Sierra Asset Management is registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment advisor. We are not a broker-dealer. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

	You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your invest- ments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your in- vestments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying. More information about our fees, including our fee schedule, can be found in items 5 and 6 of our Form ADV Part 2A.
What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment advis- er? How else does your firm make money and	When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means. As previously noted, the more assets that are in your advisory account, the more you will pay in total advisory fees. We may therefore have an incentive to encourage you to increase the assets in your account. Additionally, we require that all our advisory accounts are held at Charles	Conversation Starter How might your con- flicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

How do your financial profes- sionals make money?	Our financial professionals are paid on both a salary basis and on the basis of the amount of assets under management by SAM. Employees are paid a salary based on their skills and position in the firm. Owners are paid a salary but also benefit from the overall profitability of the firm. No one in our firm is paid based on a transaction or commission basis.
Do you or your financial profes- sionals have legal or disciplinary history?
